

The Central Arizona Museum Association (CAMA) presents:

Housing Small Objects Workshop

December 1, 2006, 9:30am to 4:00am

Tempe Historical Museum

Vihel Adult Activity Center Auditorium

3340 South Rural Road, Tempe

Museums have an abundance of small, hard to store and harder to protect artifacts in their collections. Making protective housings for these objects is key to the preservation of the object and the focus of this workshop led by textile conservator Martha Winslow Grimm and Ann Poulos of Tempe Historical Museum. Emphasis will be on creating storage mounts for hard to support smaller artifacts but information will be given on techniques of storing other objects as well. This "hands on" workshop will give participants techniques for creating mounts, examples of mounts, information on new archival supplies, archival supply lists which include where to locate products, and exchange of ideas with other participants. This workshop is limited to 30 participants and registration is not confirmed until payment is received so send in your registration today!

Participants will:

- Learn how to and create storage mounts for smaller artifacts
- Receive information on new archival supplies.
- Receive supply lists and where to locate products.
- Exchange ideas with other participants.
